

How strong is Finland's energy production?

In district heat production, the share of renewable wood and other biofuels and waste heat rose to almost 61 % in 2022. The strength of Finland's energy production has long been the diversity of its production mix- both in electricity and heat production. It should remain so even after fossil fuels are phased out.

What is Finland's Energy Policy?

Finland's approach includes nuclear energy, more renewables for electricity and heat, improved energy efficiency, and economy-wide electrification. After Russia's 2022 invasion of Ukraine, Finland moved to cut Russian energy imports, which previously comprised 81% of crude oil, 75% of natural gas, and 19% of electricity imports in 2021.

Who produces the most electricity in Finland?

The largest electricity producers in Finland are Fortum, the state energy company, Pohjolan Voima, the energy company owned by major industries, Teollisuuden Voima, the industry-owned nuclear power company, Helsingin Energia, the power company of Helsinki City, and Vattenfall, the largest energy company of Sweden.

Why does Finland have a high energy demand?

Finland has one of the highest per capita energy demands in the world due to the cold climate, well-developed economy and a robust industrial sector. Finland has made impressive strides in reducing its reliance on fossil fuels by leveraging nuclear power and expanding renewable energy production.

Is Finland energy efficient?

On an international scale, energy production and usage in Finland are efficient. Energy-intensive industries have long played a large role in the Finnish economy, spurring the development of efficiency-driven energy systems. Finland is a world leader in smart grid technology.

What is Finland's energy mix?

The emphasis in Finland's energy mix has been on renewable sources like biomass, hydro, and wind power. These measures are part of Finland's efforts to decrease energy intensity and improve energy security.
