

Why is bioenergy important in Denmark?

Moreover, bioenergy plays an important role in the Danish energy system. Clean energy is a Danish passion. Today, 50 per cent of electricity in Denmark is supplied by wind and solar power. Wind energy is well-established in Denmark, which long ago decided to put the Danish climate's constant breezes and blusters to practical use.

Does Denmark have a green energy sector?

The significant share of green energy in the Danish electricity sector is a result of ambitious strategies laid down in the early 70s, Peter Jørgensen considers. These last few decades of developing wind power and renewable energy have put Denmark at the very front when it comes to green transition in the energy sector.

Will Denmark exchange electricity with neighbouring countries in 2045?

In both 2030 and 2045, the Smart Energy Denmark scenario will exchange electricity with neighbouring countries based on the principle of mutual benefits, e.g., by providing electricity from wind power to Norway to reduce the use of water in the relatively large dammed hydro power capacity in Norway.

What is the Danish energy model?

Denmark has demonstrated that energy consumption and carbon emissions can be radically improved in a short timeframe, while sustaining significant economic growth and a high standard of living. The Danish Energy Model is a holistic system that includes all energy sectors, while spotlighting both supply and demand structures.

Will Denmark make its electricity sector Fossil-Free by 2030?

Why is green energy a top priority in Denmark?

Green energy has been a top priority in Denmark for decades. "Besides wind and solar, we have a large share of biomass in the electricity sector. So in Denmark we are actually already supplying about two thirds of the electricity demand by renewable energy," Peter Jørgensen, Vice President at Energinet, explains.
